1. Purpose

This Employee Code of Conduct & Ethics Policy establishes the standards of professional behavior expected from employees of TechNova Solutions Pvt. Ltd. (“TechNova” or “the Company”). It is intended to promote integrity, respectful conduct, responsible decision-making, protection of Company interests, and compliance with applicable requirements.

The Code provides a common behavioral framework. It does not replace detailed policies, employment terms, applicable law, or procedures governing specific activities.

2. Scope

This policy applies to all TechNova employees, including full-time, part-time, temporary, trainee, and other employees to the extent applicable to their engagement.

Certain standards may also be incorporated into contracts or engagement requirements for contractors, consultants, vendors, interns, and other third parties.

3. Core Ethical Standards

- Act honestly, fairly, and professionally.
- Comply with applicable laws, regulations, and Company policies.
- Protect Company assets, information, intellectual property, and reputation.
- Treat colleagues, customers, candidates, vendors, and other stakeholders respectfully.
- Avoid conflicts between personal interests and Company responsibilities.
- Raise concerns about suspected misconduct through appropriate channels.
- Cooperate honestly with authorized investigations.

4. Professional Conduct

Employees are expected to conduct themselves in a manner consistent with TechNova's values and professional standards.

- Perform assigned responsibilities diligently and in good faith.

- Communicate accurately and professionally.
- Meet reasonable commitments and deadlines.
- Use sound judgment when making business decisions.
- Take responsibility for errors and cooperate in correcting them.
- Avoid behavior that could reasonably damage trust in the Company.

5. Respectful Workplace

TechNova is committed to a workplace in which employees are treated with dignity and respect.

Employees must not engage in harassment, bullying, intimidation, threatening behavior, humiliation, discriminatory conduct, or other inappropriate workplace behavior.

Concerns about harassment or serious workplace conduct should be reported through the appropriate HR or designated reporting channel.

6. Equal and Fair Treatment

Employment decisions should be based on legitimate job-related factors and applicable Company processes. Employees must not use their authority to unfairly favor or disadvantage another person.

Managers have an additional responsibility to ensure that workplace decisions are made consistently and professionally.

7. Discrimination and Harassment

TechNova prohibits unlawful discrimination and harassment. Prohibited conduct may include inappropriate verbal, written, visual, physical, or electronic behavior.

Employees should report concerns promptly. Retaliation against a person who raises a good-faith concern or participates honestly in an investigation is prohibited.

8. Workplace Violence and Threats

Threats of violence, intimidation, physical aggression, or possession or use of prohibited items in violation of Company requirements are not acceptable.

Immediate safety concerns should be escalated through appropriate emergency or security channels.

9. Substance Misuse and Fitness for Work

Employees must report to work fit to perform their responsibilities and must comply with applicable rules concerning alcohol, drugs, and other substances.

Working while impaired in a manner that creates a safety, security, performance, or business risk is prohibited.

Where lawful and applicable, TechNova may take appropriate action concerning workplace substance misuse.

10. Conflicts of Interest

A conflict of interest may arise when personal, financial, family, or outside interests could interfere with an employee's ability to act objectively for TechNova.

- Disclose actual, potential, or perceived conflicts promptly.
- Do not use Company authority to obtain improper personal benefits.
- Do not participate in decisions where a significant personal interest compromises objectivity.
- Follow HR, Compliance, or management guidance for managing disclosed conflicts.

11. Outside Employment and Business Activities

Employees must not undertake outside employment, consulting, directorships, or business activities that materially interfere with their TechNova responsibilities or create an unmanaged conflict of interest.

Where Company approval or disclosure is required, the employee must complete the applicable process before undertaking the activity.

12. Family and Personal Relationships

Employees should disclose relationships that create a material conflict in hiring, reporting, evaluation, compensation, procurement, or other sensitive decisions.

Managers must not use their authority to provide improper preferential treatment to relatives, close personal contacts, or other associated persons.

13. Gifts and Hospitality

Employees must exercise caution when offering or accepting gifts, meals, entertainment, travel, or other hospitality in connection with Company business.

- Never accept or offer anything intended to improperly influence a business decision.
- Do not accept cash or cash-equivalent benefits in connection with business decisions.
- Avoid gifts that could reasonably create an obligation or appearance of impropriety.
- Follow applicable approval and disclosure requirements for business hospitality.
- Exercise heightened caution with government officials and regulated counterparties.

14. Anti-Bribery and Improper Payments

TechNova prohibits bribery, kickbacks, facilitation payments where prohibited, and other improper payments or benefits intended to influence a business decision.

Employees must not authorize, promise, offer, request, or accept an improper advantage for the purpose of obtaining or retaining business or an unfair benefit.

Suspected bribery or corruption must be reported through an appropriate channel.

15. Fraud and Financial Integrity

Employees must not falsify records, misappropriate Company funds, submit fraudulent expense claims, manipulate financial information, or knowingly conceal material financial misconduct.

Business records must accurately reflect transactions and activities.

16. Company Assets

Company assets include physical property, devices, systems, software, facilities, funds, records, information, intellectual property, and other resources.

- Use Company assets responsibly and primarily for authorized purposes.
- Protect devices from loss, theft, unauthorized access, and damage.
- Do not remove or transfer Company property without authorization.
- Report suspected loss, theft, or misuse promptly.

17. Information and Confidentiality

Employees may have access to confidential Company, employee, customer, partner, or vendor information. Such information must be accessed, used, stored, and shared only for legitimate authorized purposes.

Confidentiality obligations may continue after employment ends.

18. Personal Data and Privacy

Employees must handle personal data responsibly and in accordance with applicable privacy requirements and Company policies.

- Access personal information only when authorized and necessary.
- Do not disclose personal information to unauthorized persons.
- Use approved systems and procedures for storing or transmitting sensitive information.
- Report suspected privacy incidents through the designated security or reporting channel.

19. Information Security

Employees are responsible for protecting credentials, devices, applications, documents, and other information resources.

- Do not share passwords or authentication credentials.
- Use approved security controls and authentication methods.
- Do not bypass security controls without authorization.
- Do not install unauthorized software on Company-managed systems.
- Report phishing, malware, suspected compromise, or other security incidents promptly.

20. Acceptable Use of Technology

Company technology must be used responsibly, lawfully, and in accordance with the Acceptable Use and Information Security requirements.

Employees must not use Company systems for illegal activity, unauthorized access, malicious activity, harassment, or distribution of prohibited content.

21. Artificial Intelligence and Automated Tools

Employees using artificial intelligence or automated tools for Company work must follow approved AI-use, security, confidentiality, privacy, and intellectual-property requirements.

- Do not enter confidential or restricted information into an AI service unless the service and use case are approved.
- Review AI-generated outputs before relying on them for business decisions or deliverables.
- Do not represent unverified AI-generated content as authoritative.
- Protect customer, employee, proprietary, and regulated information.

22. Intellectual Property

Employees must respect TechNova's intellectual property and the rights of third parties.

Work product created in the course of employment may be subject to applicable employment agreements and intellectual-property rules.

Employees must not knowingly use or distribute third-party materials in violation of applicable rights or licenses.

23. Company Records

Records must be accurate, complete, timely, and maintained according to applicable retention requirements.

- Do not knowingly falsify, conceal, alter, or destroy records improperly.
- Maintain records using approved systems.
- Follow legal hold or preservation instructions when issued.
- Provide truthful information in official Company records.

24. Communications and Public Statements

Only authorized representatives may speak publicly on behalf of TechNova on matters requiring official Company representation.

Employees must not disclose confidential information through media, public forums, social platforms, presentations, or other channels without authorization.

25. Social Media

Employees may use social media for personal purposes subject to applicable Company policies and law.

- Do not disclose confidential or restricted Company information.
- Do not imply personal opinions are official Company positions.
- Do not use Company trademarks or materials in a misleading or unauthorized manner.
- Do not engage in harassment, threats, or unlawful conduct through social platforms.

26. Political and Community Activities

Employees may participate personally in lawful civic, political, or community activities. Personal activities must not be represented as Company positions unless expressly authorized.

Company resources must not be used for political activity unless expressly permitted and lawful.

27. Procurement and Vendor Relationships

Employees involved in purchasing or vendor selection must act objectively and in the Company's interests.

- Follow approved procurement and approval processes.
- Disclose conflicts involving vendors or prospective vendors.
- Do not accept improper personal benefits from suppliers.
- Do not manipulate vendor selection for personal advantage.
- Maintain appropriate documentation of purchasing decisions.

28. Customer and Partner Relationships

Employees should deal honestly and professionally with customers, partners, suppliers, and other external stakeholders.

Employees must not make unauthorized commitments on behalf of TechNova or knowingly provide materially false information.

29. Workplace Confidentiality

Confidential conversations and documents must be protected in offices, remote-work locations, public places, meetings, messaging systems, and collaborative platforms.

Employees should take reasonable precautions to prevent unauthorized persons from viewing or hearing sensitive information.

30. Remote and Hybrid Work

Employees working remotely remain subject to the same conduct, confidentiality, security, and professional standards that apply in Company facilities.

Company information must not be exposed to unauthorized household members, visitors, public audiences, or unsecured environments.

31. Travel and Business Expenses

Employees must use reasonable judgment when incurring business expenses and must comply with the Company's travel and expense requirements.

Expense claims must be accurate and supported by required documentation. Personal expenses must not be disguised as business expenses.

32. Company Time and Attendance

Employees are expected to follow applicable working-hour, attendance, leave, and availability requirements.

Employees must not knowingly falsify attendance records or misrepresent work performed.

33. Workplace Safety

Employees must follow applicable workplace safety requirements and promptly report hazards, incidents, or unsafe conditions.

Employees should cooperate with emergency procedures and reasonable safety instructions.

34. Environmental Responsibility

Employees should use Company resources responsibly and support reasonable environmental practices, including efficient use of energy, materials, and equipment.

Where department-specific environmental requirements apply, employees must follow them.

35. Insider and Sensitive Information

Employees who receive material non-public, confidential, commercially sensitive, or otherwise restricted information must not misuse or improperly disclose it.

Additional restrictions may apply to employees with access to sensitive financial, customer, security, or strategic information.

36. Nepotism and Preferential Treatment

Employees must not use their position to provide improper employment, procurement, compensation, promotion, or business advantages to relatives, friends, or associates.

Potential conflicts should be disclosed to HR or the appropriate management authority.

37. Reporting Concerns

Employees have a responsibility to raise credible concerns about serious misconduct, fraud, corruption, security violations, harassment, retaliation, or other material policy violations.

- Manager or department leadership
- Human Resources
- Information Security for security incidents

- Compliance or designated ethics channel where available
- Emergency services or appropriate authorities where immediate safety or legal intervention is required

38. Good-Faith Reporting

Employees who raise concerns honestly and in good faith should not be retaliated against for doing so.

A report made in good faith does not require the employee to be correct; employees should provide information honestly and avoid knowingly making false allegations.

39. False Reports

Knowingly submitting false information, fabricating evidence, deliberately misleading an investigation, or making a malicious allegation may itself constitute misconduct.

40. Investigations

TechNova may investigate reported or identified concerns in a fair and appropriate manner.

- Employees are expected to cooperate honestly with authorized investigations.
- Employees must preserve relevant records when instructed.
- Confidentiality should be maintained to the extent reasonably possible.
- Information will be shared only with persons who have a legitimate need to know, subject to applicable requirements.

41. Non-Retaliation

Retaliation against a person who raises a good-faith concern, participates in an investigation, requests support, or exercises a protected right is prohibited.

Potential retaliation should be reported promptly through HR or another appropriate reporting channel.

42. Manager and Leader Standards

Managers and leaders have additional responsibilities because their conduct influences workplace culture and employee decisions.

- Model ethical behavior.
- Apply policies consistently.
- Avoid conflicts of interest.
- Respond appropriately to employee concerns.
- Do not retaliate against employees who raise concerns.
- Escalate serious issues promptly.
- Protect confidential information.
- Do not make unauthorized commitments.

43. Compliance with Laws and Policies

Employees must comply with laws and regulations applicable to their responsibilities and location, as well as TechNova policies and procedures.

Where a legal requirement imposes a higher standard than this Code, the applicable legal requirement must be followed.

44. Training and Acknowledgement

TechNova may require employees to complete conduct, ethics, security, privacy, anti-bribery, or other compliance training.

Employees may also be required to acknowledge receipt and understanding of this Code.

45. Disciplinary Consequences

Violations of this Code or related Company policies may result in corrective or disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment, subject to applicable law and Company procedures.

Serious matters may also be referred to insurers, regulators, law enforcement, or other authorities where appropriate.

46. Cooperation with Authorities

TechNova may cooperate with lawful requests from government agencies, regulators, courts, law enforcement, or other authorized bodies.

Employees must not obstruct lawful investigations or destroy relevant records contrary to applicable preservation requirements.

47. Exceptions

Exceptions to internal requirements may be granted only by an authorized function where permitted. No internal exception authorizes conduct that violates applicable law or contractual obligations.

48. Frequently Asked Questions

What should I do if I see serious misconduct?

Report the concern through a manager, HR, Compliance/ethics channel, or another appropriate reporting route.

Can I report a concern anonymously?

Where an anonymous reporting channel is available, employees may use it subject to the channel's procedures.

What is a conflict of interest?

It is a situation where personal interests could interfere, or appear to interfere, with objective Company decision-making.

Can I accept a gift from a vendor?

Only where it is permitted under applicable rules and does not create an improper influence or conflict. Cash or cash-equivalent benefits should not be accepted.

Can I use AI tools for Company work?

Only in accordance with approved AI, security, privacy, confidentiality, and intellectual-property requirements.

Does the Code apply when working from home?

Yes. Professional conduct, confidentiality, security, and other applicable standards continue to apply.

What if I make a mistake?

Report material mistakes honestly and cooperate in correcting them. Concealing or falsifying information can make the situation more serious.

Can I participate in political activities personally?

Personal lawful activity is generally permitted, but employees must not represent personal activity as a Company position or misuse Company resources.

What happens after I report a concern?

The appropriate function may assess the concern, investigate where warranted, and take suitable action while protecting confidentiality as reasonably possible.

Can I be punished for making a good-faith report?

Retaliation for a good-faith report is prohibited.

49. Policy Administration

Human Resources and Compliance own this policy and review it at least annually or when material legal, organizational, or risk changes occur.

The latest approved version maintained in the official Company policy repository is the authoritative version.
